The Fairfield University Art Museum (FUAM) encompasses galleries for the permanent collection and rotating exhibitions in Bellarmine Hall, and the Walsh Gallery for larger special exhibitions in the Quick Center for the Arts. It is an essential academic and cultural resource that brings original works of art to the Fairfield University community, and to the residents of Fairfield County and beyond. The small but choice permanent collection features European and American paintings, drawings, prints and photographs, as well as a group of Asian, African and Pre-Columbian objects. This is augmented by antiquities and medieval works on long-term loan from The Metropolitan Museum of Art, the Penn Museum, the Worcester Art Museum, and the American Numismatic Society, Asian art on loan from the Columbia University Collection, and European paintings and objects borrowed from private collections.

Exhibitions showcase works of art in all media and from a range of time periods and world cultures, ancient to contemporary. FUAM partners with local schools and cultural institutions and serves all audiences through outreach, free educational programs and events, and free admission.

FUAM is located on the campus of Fairfield University, minutes from charming downtown Fairfield. The Bellarmine Hall Galleries are housed in the lower level of Bellarmine Hall, the University's signature building, built in 1921 in an English manor style for the Lasher Family. The Walsh Gallery is located in the Quick Center for the Arts.
