GENEROSITY OF EYE

A film about art transforming education.

The documentary Generosity of Eye is the extraordinary story of how the major art collection assembled by William Louis-Dreyfus will have a transformative power on the education of African-American children in the Harlem Children's Zone. It is the personal tale of actress Julia Louis-Dreyfus, who discovered how her father William's passions for art, justice and education connected in a single act of profound generosity.

The film will be shown on a continuous loop throughout the run of the exhibition.

We are grateful to filmmaker Brad Hall for making Generosity of Eye available to the Fairfield University Art Museum and giving permission for it to be shown here.
