

---

Andrew Forge: The Limits of Sight - Ephemera

Andrew Forge: The Limits of Sight

---

Fall 2020

Andrew Forge: The Limits of Sight Brochure Intro Panel

Fairfield University Art Museum

Follow this and additional works at: <https://digitalcommons.fairfield.edu/andrewforge-ephmera>

---

Recommended Citation

Fairfield University Art Museum, "Andrew Forge: The Limits of Sight Brochure Intro Panel" (2020). Andrew Forge: The Limits of Sight - Ephemera. 1.

<https://digitalcommons.fairfield.edu/andrewforge-ephmera/1>

This item has been accepted for inclusion in DigitalCommons@Fairfield by an authorized administrator of DigitalCommons@Fairfield. It is brought to you by DigitalCommons@Fairfield with permission from the rights-holder(s) and is protected by copyright and/or related rights. You are free to use this item in any way that is permitted by the copyright and related rights legislation that applies to your use. For other uses, you need to obtain permission from the rights-holder(s) directly, unless additional rights are indicated by a Creative Commons license in the record and/or on the work itself. For more information, please contact digitalcommons@fairfield.edu.

Andrew Forge: The Limits of Sight

Fairfield University Art Museum is pleased to present Andrew Forge: The Limits of Sight. British artist Andrew Forge (1923-2002) was both an acclaimed painter and an influential art critic, the author of books on Edgar Degas, Nahum Gabo, Edouard Manet, Claude Monet, and Robert Rauschenberg, among others. A selection of Forge's criticism, Observation: Notation, was published in 2018. After immigrating to the US in 1973, Forge taught at Cooper Union and served as the associate dean of the New York Studio School, where he was a visiting professor until 2002. He was the dean and professor of the Yale University School of Art from 1975-1994. Forge's highly personal abstractions distill his perceptions of place, season, and time of day into subtle orchestrations of pure color.

The exhibition was thoughtfully curated by Karen Wilkin, a New York-based independent curator and art critic, specializing in 20th-century modernism. Wilkin writes the following about Forge's work in the exhibition brochure: "We must look long and carefully at these complex sheets of multiple, intermingled hues, if we are to come to terms with their subtlety and richness, but even when we do, we always feel that something has escaped us. Their spatial mobility and their sense of pulsing light combine to make the dot paintings both irresistible and elusive. They appear to test the limits of sight. We yield to the allure of their atmospheric orchestrations of color yet we are not quite certain that we are really perceiving them. Pools and pathways of chromatic harmonies become visible with prolonged looking and then subside into the all-over fabric of dots. When we view the paintings from a distance, hints of imagery—architecture, landscape forms—suggest themselves, but vanish when we come close to the surface of the picture. It's as if we needed a different kind of visual acuity than we have normally been provided with."

We are grateful to each of the lenders who have made this exhibition possible, including numerous private collectors, the artist's widow Ruth Miller, Betty Cuninghame Gallery, the Yale University Art Gallery and the Yale Center for British Art. We would especially like to thank Fairfield alumni Patrick J. Waide '59 (who introduced us to the work of Forge) and John Meditz '70 for generously lending to the exhibition and for both standing firmly behind the museum since its inception in 2010.

